BOOK SALES AT CLIFFORD VILLAGE HALL

Summer's just around the corner!

The good news is that books have been flying off the table recently; the bad news is that this has depleted our stock. If you have any up-to-date paperbacks which you think would make a great summer read for someone, we'd love to receive them!

We very much appreciate the terrific support we receive from both readers and donors.

Gardener's Corner

for owners of a window ledge, patio or a fully flung outdoor space!

Happy July everyone!!

So we've just passed the summer solstice, and on the plus side we still have some more lovely long days to enjoy! It's going to be important to adjust for the weather conditions to look after your plants.

I'd like to take this opportunity to tell you about an organisation called Thrive- this is a small national charity that uses gardening to transform the lives of people living with a disability. Their aim is to improve people's physical health and emotional wellbeing through education, their provision of therapeutic groups and providing advice on making gardening easier and more enjoyable. Find out more at www.thrive.org.uk or www.carryongardening.org.uk

To do now

- Eat outside and enjoy the outdoor space- make the most of all your work so far, looking after and growing plants
- Water containers, and use whatever you can to conserve water, perhaps put a mulch such as bark chips or gravel, onto the soil.
- Move plants that may suffer from excessive heat or direct sunlight, into the shadier places around your house
- If you don't have one already get a water butt installed
- Prune ornamental and fruiting cherry and plum trees. Pruning in the winter can lead to sap leaking
- Hornbeam and beech hedges need trimming, now that the nesting birds have flown
- Sow lettuce every 2 weeks- you can do this in a pot on your windowsill, in prepared ground or in a raised bed. This will give you a crop over the next weeks
- No space outside? Try a new herb or two to have on your windowsill. Maybe rosemary, thyme, chives, dill or fennel. There are many ideas and recipes for using them online or social media.

Future proofing

Have a walk around your space and do a 'summer review'. Make a note of what is great and what is not so great- if you have any spaces, plan for what you could fill it with next year. The catalogues/online shops are out now for autumn planted bulbs, so you can even start thinking about some new ones to try.

Mindful moment

I really believe that getting outside- or even indoors with the window open- and tending any plants, can boost both your mood and your physical fitness. And some of you will already know the expression for gardening as 'the green gym'. As Thrive have shown- gardening can give you the following

- improved strength and stamina
- calorie burning
- relaxation
- better movement and balance
- a healthier heart

OUT AND ABOUT IN CLIFFORD

Boston Spa Gala

What an amazing event was set up for this year's gala. It felt like going to a fair ground with roundabouts, other rides and lots of fun opportunities available.

There were other stalls selling excellent goodies and the Clifford Drama Group was performing. Plenty of field space for the youngsters to run around and play informal games of football was available. The event was well attended and amidst the dreary June weather we have been having, the sun smiled on us for a change. The committee had obviously worked very hard to put the day's occasion together.

It was held once again on the huge field belonging to St. John's school so we could be pleased to welcome everyone to Clifford once again. There's a feeling of the overgrown offspring coming back to grandma's garden to enjoy the old days!

D-Day

A group of about 60 or more villagers gathered at Northways to take part in the nationwide marking of the 80th anniversary of this significant day of World War 2 – it could be considered as the beginning of the end. His Majesty's Deputy Lieutenant for West Yorkshire, Richard Jackson, was present to read the National Tribute. He also accompanied us in the customary rituals that we see in November Remembrance events - the poem 'They Shall not grow old', the lowering of the flag and the Last Post. We were but a stone's throw away from the Commonwealth Graves headstones in St. Luke's graveyard. Just a little further away was our war memorial carrying the five names of those in Clifford who gave their lives in the war. The final feature was the lighting of our beacon thus joining in with those being lit throughout the country. If only the flames could destroy all the hate and conflict which exist throughout the world.

Clifford Local History Group St Edward's Church, Graves

A previous Outlook article (April 2024) made reference to some of the graves in St Edward's church, Clifford. The graves are those of children or young people associated with St John's school. Research has helped inform this article, the common factor being they all attended the school and either died whilst a student there or they stayed to remain in employment. The wording and descriptions used in this article are taken from narrative as used at the time.

The next time you visit St Edward's church maybe take a moment to reflect on the stories behind the gravestones: Who were they? Where did they come from? What was their story?

Ellen Daly was born deaf and dumb in 1872 in London. She entered the Institution on 3rd December 1874 when she was two years old. Ellen stayed there until 20 September 1886. By the time Ellen was nineteen she was working as a tailoress and boarded at a 'Roman Catholic Deaf and Dumb Institution' at 40 Tonbridge Street, Leeds. Ellen worked alongside six other tailoresses at this time. Ellen passed away at the age of twenty-two on 10 July 1893

Andrew Garner was born on 29th July 1865 in Birchley, Manchester to parents Edward and Ann. He was baptised on 3rd August 1865 in Billinge and was ten years old when he entered the institution on 7 January 1875. Records stated that Andrew suffered constantly from infection of the throat and in the last six months before his death, he was suffering from Cricoid Cartilages. Andrew passed away on 29th May 1877 at the age of twelve and Sister Mary Lambert was present at his death. The death certificate stated Andrew died from 'Disease of Thyroid'

George Barnard was born in 1863 in Bridgewater, Somerset to parents George and Margaret. He was seven years old when he contracted Typhus Fever. George attended St John's on 9th December 1874 and records showed he was still there in 1881. At that time he will have been in employment on the premises. Indeed, records showed George worked as a compositor, inserting each letter of a word into frames for printing. To do this work he must have had a good standard of spelling and words. George passed away at the institution on 3rd October 1887 at the age of twenty-four from 'abscess of the brain'

We have certainly progressed greatly since those days and no longer describe people or illness in such a way.

Although a sad story to tell, this is the history of Clifford and hopefully it gives a respectful memorial to the young people. Maybe the next time you walk into the grounds take the time to visit the gravestones to the right side of the grounds dating from 1904 to 1915 to consider and reflect on those buried there.

As with the previous article, special thanks go to Joselyn Taylor. Acknowledgement is given to her book 'The First Catholic Deaf and Dumb Institution for England and Scotland at Sheffield 1870 – 1875 from which extracts have been taken (Published 2022, Permission given by the author),

CLIFFORD WALKERS IN MAY

Ten members of our group gathered at the North York Moors National Park centre at the top of Sutton Bank on a day which offered decent weather. Our walk was in two sections; on a map it would look like a thin figure eight. The first part took us along the Cleveland Way to the north. It's a good path, well maintained as it is well used. It's not a difficult route – gently undulating but flat enough to allow walkers to take their eyes off their boots and look at the views. To the west is the splendid view of the Vale of York and much further when the sky is clearer. Some think it to be the finest view in the whole of England but that's an opinion not a fact.

After returning to the Centre via a quiet road we found some comfortable picnic seats to enjoy our packed lunches. We had sunshine to warm us but with a wispy wind slightly cooling things. We then went in the opposite direction – alongside the land of the gliding club peppered with notices to keep us out with good reasons! Eventually we found ourselves on the path above the white horse of Kilburn. Obviously, we couldn't see it properly as it's designed for viewing at a distance. It is not an ancient white horse like those on the chalk downs in the south of England. It was constructed in the mid-19th century on the face of Sutton Bank formed of Jurassic, limey sandstone and the horse was created by removing topsoil to expose that underlying rock, and covering it with white chalk chips. (More information available via Google.)

The rest of the path took us alongside the gliding club once again from an angle where we could watch a couple of gliders being towed by a small powered plane. Of course, being based on the top of Sutton Bank, the gliders are soon well above the ground to practise their acrobatics. They offer short flights for the public given by skilled pilots – a great present for someone with a 'zero ended' birthday. Very soon we found ourselves back at the centre where the well-caked café provided an enjoyable afternoon tea which, of course, is the purpose for all our walks!

Thanks to Brian and Jacky Marsden for guiding us on what turned out to be a pleasant day and the first for ages without mud!

The Benefits of Advertising in a Community Magazine like the Clifford Outlook

A long-established reputable local magazine will help you build and maintain a strong advertising presence.

Dedicated readership – Local magazines are targeted to local audiences, giving a sense of community and locality. Establishing a presence in a credible community magazine that has been part of the local landscape for a long time will bring benefits for your business in terms of potential customers, and trust and reputation among customers.

Staying power – Online advertising can be fleeting, whereas there is a physical copy of the local magazine sitting on the kitchen table at home, or perhaps in the waiting area of the local hairdresser or doctor's surgery. It should be read by more local people, and consistently read.
